

We provide packaging solutions to keep food fresh and more accessible.

For more than 10 years, the Robistar brand food packaging business has been developing technologies to keep food fresh, better tasting and more accessible.

We do this with a strong understanding of consumer needs and a focus on delivering packaging materials, equipment systems and services that enable supermarket retailers and food processors to be more productive and more profitable.

We develop solutions to extend shelf life and freshness of perishable food, heightening merchandising appeal and providing options for meals that are quick and easy to prepare.

Our packaging technologies can be found across shopping aisles in Moldova and also in foodservice kitchens.

We help food manufacturers to extend the shelf life of the product as well as heightening merchandising appeal.

The Robistar company provides a wide range of barrier packaging materials for the food industry. The core brand of the company consists essentially of three elements:

Dedication

We provide dedication and commitment by focusing on consumer needs and delivering effective technologies and materials.

Quality

Our quality focus is based on developing packaging systems that enable perishable foods to be distributed safely and efficiently.

Forward thinking

We create packaging products and systems to meet specific market needs, not just for today, but with the future in mind.

Providing packaging solutions best suited to each application.

Our leadership is based on our commitment to provide complete packaging solutions, comprising not only innovative packaging materials and complete equipment lines but also packaging processes best suited to each application.

We offer a wide range of paper and barrier packaging solutions.

Convenient

Suitable packaging solutions that offer clear identification of the product and are easy to handle, being convenient for the consumer.

Appealing

The clean look of the packaging places the emphasis on the visual appeal of your product and makes it stand out.

Meeting market needs with the future in mind.

We create packaging products and systems to meet specific market needs, not just for today, but with the future in mind.

This distinction is critical, and represents one of the reasons we are perceived not as a vendor, but as a strategic partner.

Working closely with the supermarket, food processing and foodservice industries we have developed packaging systems in use throughout the world that enable perishable foods to be distributed safely and efficiently.
